

Dear sir:

I have read two of your books, (WHITEWASH I, & WHITEWASH II) which I found most useful in my own research into the falacies and errors in the Warren Report. What I would like to know about your books is that you made a number of references to the commissions so called throat wound and related it to that magical bullet by saying that Kennedy's wound was not in the throat but in the upper back and that the bullet (#399) did not come off of Connally's stretcher but off of Kennedy's by working its way out with the help of cardiac massage. Now the question I would like you to answer is as follows : Could there have been two non-fatal wounds in the late president's body. One in the upper part of Kennedy's back as shown by his clothing & one in the neck as told by DR. Perry?

I would also like to have if you could possibly get your hands on some of the more important copies of documents, such as a blow up the area in Altgens photograph where the FBI says Lovelady at the time of the assassination.

Sincerely Yours

Steve

P.S. I have the above photograph from your book but I need one better. I would like to see if it could possibly get me a copy of the original photograph. It would be a great help to me.
